Improved “Should I Appeal?”

The Board continues to be in the forefront of innovation in the use of technology in the administrative tribunal community in B.C.

With assistance from the Justice Services Branch, the Board has launched an improved Solution Explorer for residential appeals (“Should I Appeal?”) that includes (for the first time) multi-lingual content in Cantonese, Mandarin, and Punjabi:

This is part of the Board’s continuing effort to make our processes more accessible. In coming years, we will further expand the multi-lingual content.
